PROFILE

Alina-Mihaela ION VESPAN is a dedicated academic with extensive expertise in information technology applied to higher education and economic systems. With a Ph.D. in Information Systems, her research interests include the integration of digital tools in learning environments, database administration, and web technologies. She has coordinated and contributed to various projects, focusing on educational innovation and IT solutions for management and research. She has published multiple works on technology's role in education and business. Alina-Mihaela ION VESPAN is also a skilled professor, delivering courses in IT systems, programming, and web development. Actively involved in academic and professional organizations, she promotes interdisciplinary collaboration and lifelong learning within the academic community. Her goal is to further bridge technology and education through innovative, research-driven and IA approaches.

June – December 2007: Member of the work group created for making the ARACIS assessment file of the

Master of Research in Economy Informatics program

ACADEMIC EXPERIENCE

2007–2012 – Teaching Assistant, PhD Candidate

2012–2013 – Assistant Professor, PhD

2013 – Present – Lecturer, PhD

at the Faculty of Cybernetics, Statistics and Economic Informatics CSIE, DICE – Department of Informatics and Economic Cybernetics

Courses and seminars taught:

- Basics of Programming (in French, Bachelor's, FABIZ)
- Technology and Programming in Data Science (in French, Bachelor's, FABIZ)
- Technologies for E-Business (in French, Bachelor's, FABIZ)
- General Informatics (in French, Bachelor's, FABIZ)
- Internet Technologies for Business (in French, Bachelor's, FABIZ)
- Computer Science for Business Management (in French, Master's in Business Administration, FABIZ)
- Economic Informatics (Bachelor's, BT, REI)
- Software Packages (Bachelor's, CSIE)
- Economic Information Systems (Bachelor's, CSIE)

Main responsibilities:

- Documentation, research, and structuring of courses
- Coordination and preparation of course syllabus
- Development of course and seminar materials
- Creation of exam topics
- Student evaluation
- Communication with students
- Coordination of Bachelor's theses in the FABIZ French Section and CSIE – Economic Informatics

RESEARCH PROFILE

My research focuses on:

Active involvement in interdisciplinary projects and academic dissemination in IT, AI, and education.

Design and management of content and university administration systems.

Development of e-learning platforms, digital tools, and AI-driven solutions for lifelong learning.

Integration of information technology and artificial intelligence in higher education, with a focus on economic fields.

Research on innovative teaching methods, collaborative educational environments, and intelligent systems.
